

Baely Dakin's Reflective statement

After the initial install of the OS, apache, and the FTP server the device was handed over to me. From there I did the rest of the setup, including the SQL DB, configuration of the apache server, the SSH install, as well as all the security changes. I also used another VM to scan the machine with nmap and Nessus to prove that we made many security changes. I did not take a managerial role and instead did most of the practical work. Due to COVID-19 online working made it hard for us to share this practical workload and it was left to me which I was okay with as my group helped tremendously.
