Reflective statement Greg Snell

My contribution to the group for part 1 of the assignment has been the creation of the ubuntu virtual machine and installation of the apache server. I also researched how to install the full LAMP stack to aid the group with installation and setup. I explained to the group that I am not the most proficient user of Linux and therefore I explained to the group I could contribute a lot with research and organising the group. I organised the group to meet up once a week on Discord for two hours and created a WhatsApp group to make it easier to contact each other. This enabled us to be more productive and ensured we met the deadline in good time and without the stress of rushing it at the last minute.
